

SOME OF THE INDIVIDUALS YOU HELPED TO FIND THEIR WAY.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

Some of the Individuals You Helped to Find Their Way.

When someone comes to The Mission seeking help, all we ask are two questions: What's your name? And are you hungry?

We are all too aware that this may be one of the lowest points in this individual's life.

Feeling like they've lost their way, they may have also lost even the slightest glint of hope.

And they now have nowhere else to turn.

That's why the first thing we let them know is that they have come to the right place, that we are here for them, we care about them, we will treat them with dignity, and we see their potential.

After providing a warm meal, a hot shower, and a safe place to sleep, we offer medical treatment, counseling, vocational training and permanent housing.

We are here to provide opportunities – and to create new possibilities.

In this Annual Report, we share with you stories of some of the individuals your compassion and generosity helped to find their way, including:

- Eileen Linke, who, when she became pregnant, reached out to The Mission, feeling lost, afraid, alone and hopeless – yet knowing, deep in her heart, that she had to find a way for her daughter's life not to be like hers.
- Donell Whitley, who after being shot in the head and left for dead in a drug deal, completed The Mission's Behavioral Health Program, and is now working at The Mission, inspiring others in recovery, saying, "If I can do it being legally blind – imagine what you can do."
- Gloria and her daughter Ana, who are among the 6,000 individual family members who receive nutritious food from our Food Pantry. As Arly, who coordinates our pantry, shared, "While the children all make me smile, still, it is hard, knowing that the need for food is so strong."

Meanwhile, this year, after nearly a half-century of having a profound impact on The Mission and the City of Trenton, Mary Gay Abbott-Young decided it was time to retire. I will forever remember her lasting words: "I've come to know that by being here for one individual at a time, we can have a yet to be told effect on that individual's family for generations to come."

Your donation makes all this possible – one individual at a time, today and for generations to come.

Thank you for keeping those we serve in your hearts.

And for being in this together.

Trying to Fill Those Holes in My Soul

Holding her daughter Ellyanda in her arms, Eileen Linke said, “My mom had me when she was young. She didn’t know me. She only knew drugs and gangs in Trenton. And she was in way over her head.”

When Eileen was twelve years old, she said, “my mom introduced me to opiates.”

A year later, when her mother’s boyfriend overdosed in her home, Eileen was sent to live with her father, where, she said, “I ended up still surrounded by drugs and abuse. The scenery was just switched.”

“I didn’t know what love was,” she added. “So I kept looking for it, always trying to please people, doing whatever they wanted me to do.”

After graduating from high school, Eileen said, “I got involved in a relationship where I was doing drugs and getting beat up all the time.” More than once, she was hospitalized. But it took another year for her to run away from that abusive relationship, living in her car until it was repossessed.

Several years later, she said, “I became pregnant. And the young man I was with disappeared.” She felt like her world was caving in. “The last thing I wanted was to be in a shelter with my baby. I thought I had no way out. I was lost, afraid, alone, hopeless.”

Then a friend gave her Thomasine’s phone number.

Thomasine Gaines is the first person a pregnant woman who is struggling with addiction speaks to when she calls For My Baby and Me, an innovative program in which The Mission partners with Capital Health, HomeFront, Catholic Charities and Trenton Health Team to provide long-term recovery along with medical care and support for women and their children.

Eileen said, “I was crying hysterically when I called Thomasine. And she calmed me down. She said she would come to meet me. And she assured me I would get through it – and be stronger for it.” Thomasine has lived experience in overcoming poverty and addiction that she draws upon daily to compassionately support women who are pregnant and seeking help.

When Eileen gave birth, she said, “It was a joy beyond what I ever thought was possible.”

Playing with Ellyanda, Eileen reflected, “When you are early in recovery, you still have holes in your soul. Then you try to fill those holes with relationships or money. And there are not enough relationships or money in the world to fill those holes up.”

Eileen now fills those holes at The Mission, where she is employed as the Ambassador for the For My Baby and Me

“The last thing I wanted was to be in a shelter with my baby. I thought I had no way out. I was lost, afraid, alone, hopeless.”

Beaming, Eileen said, “My daughter gets to see that there is another way to live.”

program, working closely with Thomasine, encouraging women who are pregnant and addicted to find help.

Giving Love to Our Neighbors Living on The Streets

Greeting the sunrise on a raw winter day, Chalia Perry and Jose Caraballo quickly pulled The Mission's Outreach van to a halt, hopped out, and warmly greeted someone they had become very familiar with, who is living on the streets, and goes by the name of Coffee.

"Coffee," Chalia called out, "I have something beautiful for you that'll keep your head warm." Then Chalia showed her some of the nearly 200 hats that were hand-knitted by Anita Brady and her family and friends, and donated to The Mission in memory of Anita's husband.

Pulling a dark green hat snugly around her ears, Coffee said, "Wow! This is beautiful. Thank you."

As more people gathered around the van, calling out each other's names, Coffee took center stage. Teasing, she said, "I'm going to get cleaned up by Wednesday and marry Jose." Then she insisted to others who gathered, "You stay away from him. He's going to be my husband." Meanwhile, Jose was just sitting with a huge grin on his face.

For Chalia and Jose, who are both Certified Peer Recovery Specialists, special moments like this are business as usual. They navigate through the city, knowing where people living on the streets who are struggling with addiction are known to congregate. Then they'll see someone, pull over, and offer a cup of coffee. What happens next is amazing to see. Others start to gather. Hugs are exchanged. Trust opens, as gratitude is shared. Sipping coffee, receiving a sandwich and some new clothes, sometimes a Narcan kit, you hear lots of people echoing, "Thank you, very much."

"Sipping coffee, receiving a sandwich and some new clothes, sometimes a Narcan kit, you hear lots of people echoing, 'Thank you, very much.'"

Coffee's eyes lit up, as she saw a dark green hat that matched the coat she was wearing.

Through such deep connections, in the past year, The Mission's Outreach initiative has provided coffee and food 4,342 times, 742 items of clothing, 580 Narcan kits, addiction treatment for 50 individuals, medical treatment for 24 individuals, and brought 21 homeless individuals to The Shelter.

And behind each of those numbers is a personal story – like Coffee's.

The Need Remains Undeniable for Our Food Pantry

"While the children all make me smile, still, it is hard, knowing that the need for food is so strong. And it keeps growing," said Arly Uz-Barragan, Coordinator of The Mission's Food Pantry.

Robert, a grandfather who unexpectedly became the caregiver for his three grandchildren, said, "It is a struggle. I'm trying to guide them, and to keep them safe and healthy." Then he quietly added, "This food means a lot."

The harsh reality is that nearly one out of every two children under the age of six in Trenton is living below the poverty line. That means that most of these children are starting their day without breakfast – which, studies show, significantly impacts their focus and performance in school, as well as their chances of succeeding later in life.

"The children all make me smile. Still, it is hard, knowing that the need for food is so strong."

Gloria and her daughter Ana wait their turn to enter our Food Pantry.

Traveling a Long Way to Finally Come Home

fter coming to The Shelter a little over a year ago, Benjamin Taylor is now, for the first time ever, living in his own apartment.

"It's pretty nice," he said, his eyes lighting up. "It has a small kitchen, a living room, a bathroom with a shower and a bedroom. Out the window I've got a great view of a park nearby."

Benjamin never felt connected to any place or anyone. "When I was a baby," he said, "my mom gave me to a foster family in an office building. He had not seen her since he was a baby. But he knew right away that it was her. He didn't approach her. He didn't know what to say. He just stared, taking it as a sign, although he was not sure what it meant. "Somehow, I felt grateful," he said, "just feeling a connection." Then, he just walked away.

That was when Benjamin decided to get as far away from Trenton as he could. For the next four decades, he didn't stay any place too long. He sojourned around Florida, then all over California, then throughout the Midwest, staying in shelters and finding temporary employment. "I saw some beautiful places. But I never found any place I could call home," he shared.

That was until last year, when he decided it was time to return to Trenton.

"I came to The Shelter," he said. "And I asked if there was some way I could stay here while I volunteered and helped out." He dusted and mopped the floors in the kitchen and dining room. "For the first time, I felt like I knew where I was going to stay," he said.

Sensing his determination, Case Managers in The Shelter gladly helped Benjamin get his State Identification, food stamps, general assistance, health insurance, in Trenton. What I learned was that you can still love people who don't care about you much."

and permanent housing.

Reflecting on his journey, Benjamin said, "I've traveled a long way. And I've finally come home."

Your Gently Used Clothes Can Make a World of Difference for Someone in Need

We gratefully accept donations of gently used clothes – which will immediately help someone who knocks on our Shelter's door – because they have nowhere else to turn.

Your donations also provide a very affordable way for our neighbors to find clothing of great value in our Thrift Store, which they could not find anywhere nearby.

How can you help?

You can see a map to our Clothing Box Locations on our website:

Another way you can support The Mission is by hosting a clothing drive through your company, business, school, faith-based organization, or civic group.

A Former Resident Now Helps Others in The Shelter

Growing up in a very bleak section of Newark, Donell Whitley remembers, “My family was very poor. The only people who were thriving in my neighborhood were dealers. They were the ones with the fancy cars, flashy jewelry and loads of cash. So, I saw what was happening.”

“I tell people, if I can do it, while being legally blind – imagine what you can do.”

Donell lost his eye after being shot in the head by a drug dealer.

When he was 11 years old, he said, “My sister and I were starving. I knew my mom had spent all the food stamps. So I went to Les, who was always on our street corner. And I told him we were hungry, and he gave me a few dollars. The next day, he asked if I wanted to make some easy money. I said sure. So he had me standing on the street, asking people if they wanted any coke. They’d give me $10 dollars, and I’d call up to Les, who was in his apartment. He’d drop a bottle on a string down to me, I’d put the $10 dollars in the bottle, he’d pull it up, then send the bottle back down with a dime’s worth of coke.” At the end of the day, Donell was making $20 a day.

Fast forward, and 16 years later, Donell was shot in his head by a drug dealer and left on the street. “I lost my left eye. And 50% of the vision in my right eye.”

Donell found his calling after completing The Mission’s Behavioral Health Program. He then earned a certification as a Peer Recovery Specialist, which qualifies individuals with lived experience to help others in recovery. Now he is working in The Mission’s Shelter.

“I feel like my life finally has meaning. I’m encouraging people to get back to themselves. I tell people, if I can do it, while being legally blind – imagine what you can do. I know I can help others – because I am them and they are me.”

MARY GAY ABBOTT-YOUNG

Nearly a Half-Century of Making a Real Difference

With conviction and passion, after nearly a half-century of helping those in our community who are marginalized and unseen, speaking up for those whose voices are often not heard, feeding those who are hungry, housing those who are homeless, and providing opportunities for those who are seeking recovery – Mary Gay Abbott-Young decided this year it was time for her to retire from The Mission.

For most of her life, on her way home from a 12-hour day at work, it was not unusual for her to roll down her window at a stop light and call out someone’s first name who was panhandling, asking him or her to come by for a meal and a place to sleep at The Shelter.

Her motto has been “Look into the eyes of someone who is struggling. See their pain. And I also ask that you see their potential.”

“I came to understand that The Mission is a reflection of what is going on in our community – and in our society as a whole. People do not fall out of the sky and end up here on our front steps. There have been situations in their lives, and in the life of their community, that have created, unfortunately, the likelihood for them coming to The Mission.

“I’ve come to know that by being here for one individual at a time, we can have a yet to be told effect on that individual’s family for generations to come.”

For nearly a half century, Mary Gay’s impact on The Mission and Trenton has been profound.

“So, I’ve come to appreciate that when someone can go through all of that – and to, somehow, become a positive individual...that, to me, is an incredible sign of inner strength.

“I’ve come to know that by being here for one individual at a time, we can have a yet to be told effect on that individual’s family for generations to come.

“Ultimately, I had a chance to see, day-in and day-out, that the human spirit is so strong – and so amazing.”
